August review

Global equity markets were little changed during August, traditionally a quiet month in the markets due to the northern hemisphere's summer holiday schedule. The MSCI All Country World Index increased by 0.4% in US dollar terms with increases in the US share market (0.3%) and emerging market equities (2.2%) mostly offset by falls in Europe (-0.5%) and Japan (-1.3%). In Australia, the local equity market rose 0.7%, while in Australian dollar terms, the MSCI All Country World Index rose 1.0% during August, a move primarily driven by a small reversal of the recent Australian dollar strength.

In otherwise quiet markets, the enduring US political pantomime continues to weigh heavily on both the US dollar and US treasury yields, with the yield on the benchmark ten year US bond falling to 2.1% by month end, a nine-month low. Betting markets currently ascribe only a 44% probability to the prospect of Donald Trump serving his full presidential term, and as his administration gets pulled further into ignominy, financial markets have unwound their earlier confidence in the prospects for meaningful US tax reform and the program of substantial new infrastructure spending Trump was elected on.

During August, the fund successfully exited three positions and added to a number of our existing holdings at favourable levels.

The investment portfolio increased in value by 0.4% during August. The fund's discount capture strategy detracted 0.2% from returns during the month, which, while disappointing, represents the first negative month for the investment strategy since July 2016. The fall in the Australian dollar added 0.7% to performance over the month, with the remaining attribution of returns accounted for by underlying market movements and operating costs.

A list of the Global Value Fund's current top five holdings is shown on the following page, along with a breakdown of the fund's underlying currency and asset class exposures. The fund was 100% invested at the end of August.
